Kavya's mother by profession is Bamboo Weaver, in fact the Word "Medar" Bamboo Weavers. Her whole family involves in producing baskets, bamboo fencing. Since she labors in an unorganized sector where middle men exploit these helpless women. She earns less than a $ per day and sometimes if her produce does not fetch sufficient Money, she and her two daughters go to bed empty stomach. In order to earn her living , she has already sent Kavy's older sister to work at a landlord's house so as to ensure that they have two square meals a day. On the other hand her husband Works as a migrant labor but never supports his wife and kids, all that he earns goes for liquor, therefore he never takes any family responsibility. Therefore she is forced to earn extra Money by means of flesh trade.

Kavya has to fend for herself, she has the urge to go to school but her economical situation prevents her from seeking bright future. She does not want to end up like her older sister. She is regular to the Sunday school class every Sunday, she has learnt to sing chorus, learn memory verse , she began to read N.T. at home in the mornign and during bedtime. Once she was Reading Ps 23 to her mother who laid up in bed due to some sickness. Her mother listening to Ps 23 changed her Outlook, she began to relate herself to the Chief shepherd, step by step the Word of God began to take hold of her, one morning she invited the pastor to visit her and pray for her sickness, the pastor before praying shared the góspel, led her to confess her and believe Jesus Christ died and rose again to forgive her sins. She did exactly and from then on she is a new creature, though her poverty stares at her face, she is able to cross over. Now she begs us to somehow assist her daughter to go to school regulary and take care of her.
